ANOTHER DANGER POINT

A loaded truck was struck by a train Wednesday evening at the crossing on the R. Albert trail. This is another of the numerous but long-neglected danger points in the city. Members of the legislature at a recent session elected a strong protest against the utter lack of safeguards at that crossing, and hundreds of motorists have had occasion to know that this protest was strictly in order.

It is time to do something about establishing gates and a watchman there, as at the crossing on 98th street. For years there have been dangerous every day by the failure to provide such safety devices at these crossings. There have been many accidents at either point. It will not do to go on trusting to luck indefinitely. The question of providing these and other level crossings where there is a large volume of traffic cannot be taken up too soon.

THE PROGRESSIVE NORTH

It is not surprising to learn that Hon. Mr. King and his companions were impressed with the fertility of the Peace River country, the progress that is being made there, and the need for better highway and railway communication. Every visitor to the great north-western region returns with a similar conviction of its wealth-producing power and the splendid future that awaits it. And this year the Peace River country reports a crop of even more than the usual excellence.

Remembering the laurels that have been won by Peace River grain and grain exhibitors from former years all the way from Edmonton to Chicago, the present crop must be a remarkable one if it surpasses those of some past years in quantity or yield per acre. As there is a substantially larger acreage this year, the total output of grain should beat previous records.

The conditions are as gratifying from the standpoint of Edmonton as from that of the Peace River farmers. Properly there means larger trade with and through Edmonton. It means also a stimulus to the movement to construct an all-weather highway from the city to the Peace.

ONE LAND SETTLEMENT BOARD

The soldiers' settlement board is to be merged with the land settlement board of the Dominion Government. The change is purely a departmental one, and involves the amalgamation of two branches which were carrying on similar work, one on behalf of returned men and the other on behalf of civilian settlers.

The soldiers' settlement board has not been without its critics. It is fair to remember that it was created to deal with a new and altogether strange situation, and that the policy it was set to apply was one which could not be worked out in the circumstances without difficulty, friction and a measure of dissatisfaction.

The long and short of it is that the board was given the task of settling soldiers upon land much of which was capitalised, and was to make the slump in value came trouble came with it. Provision has now been made for reviving the soldiers' land for and reducing their obligations to the Government to a minimum.

With that arrangement, the time is opportune for amalgamating the two branches and putting the operation of the land and settlement policy in charge of one authority.

TAKE NO CHANCES

It is suggested that not such of communicable disease are reported to the health authorities. Where the ailment is one of those which children seem to suffer more or later, and from which serious consequences do not often follow, no great harm is done when the inconvenience of quarantine is avoided by a policy of silence.

But there must be none of that in respect to the disease which now threatens to become epidemic among the children. This malady is too deadly to be trifled with, and no intelligent parent has any chance to be taken which might result in the infection of others.

shows symptoms which may indicate the dreaded disease a doctor should be called at once. If lack of means is any hindrance, the health department should be communicated with directly. And in every case where the verdict is adverse, or even doubtful, there should be an immediate report to the department, and the most complete compliance with regulations and recommendations for the treatment of the case and the isolation of the sufferer.

A Plea for a Road

By EDGAR E. GUEST

I make a plea for a road, a road with a touch of pride. A road for all men to fare, level and staunch and wide. But I don't want to travel a year which tells me how heavy it is.

Make way for the haste of men! today is the time for your advance. Let us level the smiling hills that commerce may hurry by. In the name of the gods of speed, let all that is lovely die!

Here are trees of a hundred years, here are haunts where life's good to die. Must we every tree of the forest, must we pull the axe to the living tree. And exhibit the dead tree in a flat where there's nothing for them to see?

Oh, governor, tell me this have we all turned slaves to speed? Are beauty and charm and peace no longer worth thought or heed? Is a glimpse of God's lovely works no longer a mortal need?

I plead for a stretch of road that is level and staunch and wide. A road that is safe for men, with beauty on either side. Not merely an ugly year which will show that our souls have died.

Making a Library

By DR. FRANK MCROY

Libraries are essential to the continual advancement of man. They are the storehouses of records of past achievements and by looking them over a man can see what has been done before him. And this is the most important thing that a man can do. He can see what has been done before him. He can see what has been done before him.

We are all indebted to those who have gone before us. Our electric lights are the result of the discoveries of a man who is now dead and our gas comes from a dead source.

The man who invented matches is gone and the heroes who founded this Republic have passed away. Looking back over their achievements, we are enabled to make our advancement.

A significant sign in this direction has been taken by the city of Edmonton, where a committee has been appointed by the family, who every year make a collection of the films given during the last twelve months which they deem worthy of permanent preservation.

A library of this character will be of immeasurable value.

Do You Remember?

Forty Years Ago
From the Edmonton Bulletin, Saturday, August 27th, 1887.

Many thoughtful men began themselves to the belief that there are unavoidable children's diseases. This opinion is far from true. Such acute diseases as measles, chicken pox, scarlet fever, tonsillitis, and whooping cough are produced by unwholesome habits of life. Errors in diet, lack of bathing, and excessive mental strain are really responsible for the enervation and toxemia which make these ailments possible.

In the springtime of life all of the natural tendencies are toward perfect health, and sickness does not come on as a rule in the night. Usually, the parents are quite careless in allowing their young ones to do things which are known to be injurious, such as smoking, eating, and drinking. Mothers have loved one a lollipop and father tried to give one better with an ice cream cone, while anxious feels that his child is not getting the best of his nature.

School Boards Are "All Set" To Receive Pupils On Tuesday Morning — Workers Have Renovated Schools During Summer Months

Fifteen thousand Edmonton school children will pack their books and pencils under their arms next Tuesday morning when school bells will ring for the opening of the fall term. It is a close the nine weeks' holiday which the children have enjoyed since school closed at the end of June.

Book stores handling school supplies present a hive of industry these days, the children preparing for the term, while after the official opening, time will be allowed the students to arrange their supplies.

Score of workers under the supervision of the city engineer, are at work on the renovation of the public schools. Every effort is made to keep them open during the summer months to give the students in front-line shape at the start of the new term. The students will return to their schools in greatly improved shape.

VALUE MOVIES IN EDUCATION

"Go Ahead and Holler" That's Kiddies' Matinee Slogan

That matinee are becoming a prime factor in the education of children is becoming more and more recognized by educational experts on the continent.

Children have active minds and a keenness to select only pictures which would be of greatest value to them, and theatre producers are on the alert at all times to see that only pictures of the highest type are specially advertised for the children.

Special Saturday morning matinees are extensively followed, and the Rialto Theatre, Edmonton, specializes in this service for the children. And the children at these special matinees are given a real sense of fun and give vent to their pent-up feelings as they jump a chair or anything like that.

The pictures must be clean, wholesome, and educational, while theatre managers realize that and make pictures also are entertaining to the youngsters.

Children and youngsters alike have a keen sense of humor and an instinctive sense of a good laugh. The best kind of a tonic, good medicine are provided. Felix the Cat is a great favorite with the children, while Andy Gump of comic strip fame, comes in for a lot of whole-hearted chuckles and giggles from the little ones.

The suggestion that matinees for the children are a waste of time and money is a complete fallacy.

ROBERT CROSSLAND
Chairman of the Edmonton Separate School Board

With a sack of wholesome candy and simple competitions are arranged for them, the management at the Rialto presenting valuable pictures from time to time. For instance, recently they gave away two bicycles as prizes for the answers to a quiz. No denying that that would make a child exercise his mind.

Another feature of the Rialto Theatre is the development of the child's talent by special "Future Artists" nights on the stage. Here the children are given a chance to display their talents in singing, dancing, and other theatricals.

Thrilling Story

Why Take a Chance on your Children's Health?

While the present epidemic of children's disease is going around the city there are still some mothers who have no real fear of their children being "laid-up" with any sickness.

These mothers are secure in the knowledge that their children are healthy and happy and maintain their health by eating the most wholesome and nourishing foods.

Your doctor will tell you that the children who are most susceptible to disease are the ones who either get too much or too little food or those who get food unsuitable to their constitution.

Every child loves BREAD and it is the one food that you can be sure is safe, especially if it is made in a clean, modern bakery and is protected by a Waxed Paper Wrapper.
